“While the operating environment continues to be challenging, we are doing a lot of things right and we are excited about the direction we are headed with the business. Specifically, we saw improvement with our sales volume productivity during the quarter driven by solid results for our older dealerships. Additionally, during the year, we have made significant improvements with our underwriting and collections as evidenced by our 30 day plus delinquencies finishing at the lowest point in five years. We believe that the competitive environment on the lending side during the fourth quarter was particularly intense this year during income tax refund season as competitors even more aggressively targeted our customers to maintain their volumes in an increasingly difficult environment. We continue to believe that many competitive offerings are not going to be sustainable over the long-term. In the short-term, however, we are left with doing our best to help customers succeed while competitors are pushing hard and in many cases enticing some of our good customers to default with us,” said William H. (“Hank”) Henderson, Chief Executive Officer of America’s Car-Mart, Inc. (the “Company”). “We remain committed to our Mission: ‘We strive to earn the repeat business of our customers by providing quality vehicles, affordable payment terms and excellent service.’ We believe more firmly than ever that our face-to-face relationship with our customers is the only way to serve our market effectively if you care about customer success and repeat business, which we most certainly do. Customer success is the only reason we exist. Unfortunately, in our view, many companies operating in our markets today don’t share that same vision.”

“We continue to believe that every small town in America would benefit from having a Car-Mart,” added Mr. Henderson. “Obviously, due to the shortfall in operating results caused by the tough environment, we have had to slow down our new store opening plans. We are working hard to make improvements and to get all existing dealerships performing at a high level. We do continue to expect to return to a more historical rate for new dealership openings at some point in the future.”

“As Hank mentioned, it was nice to see productivity improve during the quarter, which led to solid operating expense leveraging. We believe that we have a very lean but effective structure in place that can support the business as we continue to grow. We have great people throughout the Company who are very skilled at what they do and who care deeply about our customers and their families. Today, we are more than ready to help additional customers with their transportation needs. We can and will get better along the way but, realistically, as long as competitors are offering what we consider to be unsustainable deal structures, we will continue to face headwinds related to credit losses. We hope that we will get some relief soon on the competitive front which will translate into many more consumers owning their vehicles at the end of the contract term,” said Jeff Williams, President of America’s Car-Mart, Inc. “We are excited to be entering fiscal 2017 with delinquencies at very low levels and with our inventory in great shape. We are laser focused on good, solid blocking and tackling, and we are optimistic that we can perform well even if market conditions do not improve. We do, however, believe conditions will improve but we are not waiting around for that to happen.”

“During the fourth quarter, we paid down almost $15 million in debt while re-purchasing 150,902 shares (1.8% of our total outstanding shares) of our common stock at an average price of $24.72 per share. Since February 2010, we have re-purchased 4.2 million shares (36% of our total outstanding shares) for $135 million at an average cost of $32.47 per share. As always, we are focused on cash flows and maintaining a very healthy balance sheet, which we believe will serve us well if market conditions change in our favor,” added Mr. Williams. “Because our credit losses have remained elevated for some time now, at the end of May, we will be increasing our contract interest rate to 16.5% from 15.0%. Also, we did close four of our smaller dealerships toward the end of the fiscal year. Those dealerships were located in Tyler, Texas; Atlanta, Texas; Cushing, Oklahoma and Trumann, Arkansas, respectively, and three of the four were satellite locations at one time. Accounts have been transferred to nearby dealerships and we are committed to maintaining high service levels for these customers.”
